Strengthening Public Finance Management for Sustainable National Development

STRENGTHENING PUBLIC FINANCE MANAGEMENT FOR SUSTAINABLE NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

In an era of growing fiscal pressures and development demands, governments must adopt innovative strategies to widen the revenue base, reduce leakages, and promote prudent expenditure. This requires embracing digital financial systems, strengthening institutions, and enforcing robust regulatory frameworks. Equally important is fostering public trust through transparency and citizen engagement in budgeting and accountability processes.

Strong public finance systems are essential for sustainable national development. By improving revenue collection, ensuring efficient use of resources, and promoting transparency and accountability, governments can better fund key sectors like health, education, and infrastructure. Strengthening these systems enhances economic stability, builds public trust, and supports inclusive, long-term growth for present and future generations.

ABOUT THE PFM CONFERENCE

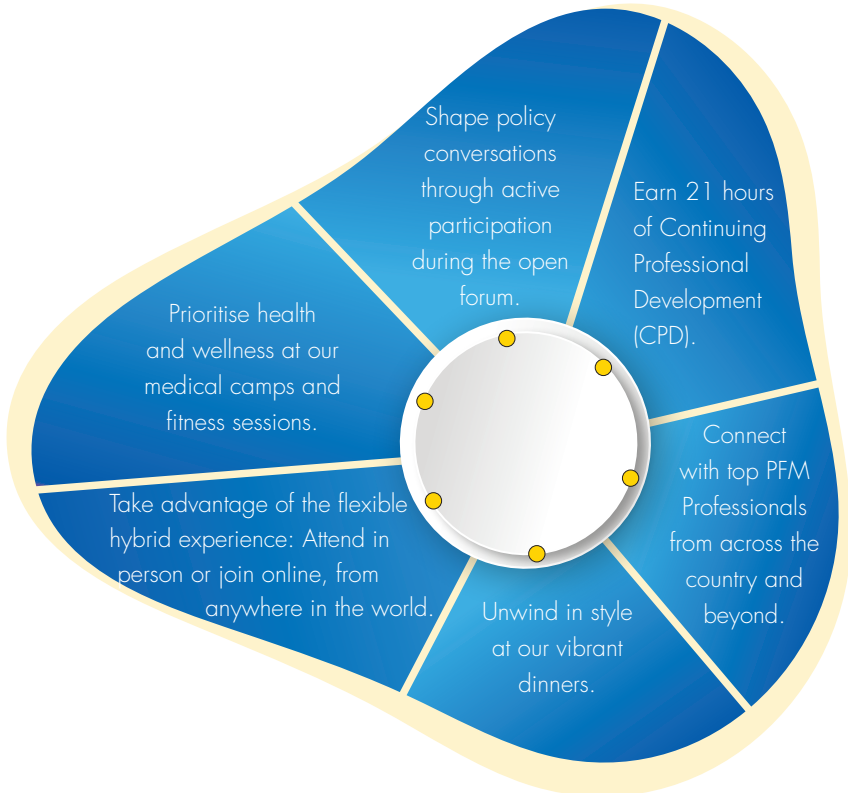

The Public Finance Management (PFM) Conference convenes stakeholders from the public sector to engage in dialogue on policies and systems that enhance financial management and improve service delivery.

Participants exchange experiences and strengthen their capacity to implement innovative solutions that accelerate PFM reforms.

The conference shapes national economic policy, with key resolutions presented to the Ministry of Finance, Planning and Economic Development.
